

YOGI TEA[®]
ORGANIC

Be good. Do good. Bee Happy.

Mindfulness begins with the small things and often has a big impact. Did you know that wild bees are crucial to the pollination and thus the continued existence, of many plant species? As a producer of organic teas, we work hard to preserve nature. With this tea, we are purposefully assisting wild bees, to which we owe so much and yet which are under such grave threat.

This tea is made with plants that wild bees are particularly fond of as a food source and whose petals are used in this floral blend, once the plants have finished flowering. In addition, we are providing selected growers with nesting aids.

Perhaps, like us, YOGI TEA® Bee Happy will inspire you to make your garden or balcony a little more wildlife-friendly – and to be as mindful of these little creatures as they deserve.

Find out more at yogitea.com

IN THE MOOD FOR SOMETHING REFRESHING AND NEW?

Find out more about YOGI TEA®
at yogitea.com

YOGI TEA GmbH · Burchardstraße 24 · D-20095 Hamburg

YOGI TEA[®]
ORGANIC

Bee Happy

Bee Happy

Ayurvedic blend with chamomile, lavender and mint

You can do your bit to help wild bees!

1.

Conjure up a beautiful sea of flowers.

You can provide a sufficient range of indigenous flowers in your garden or on your balcony. You thereby create a paradise for wild bees and support these hard-working creatures in their quest for food.

2.

Give wild bees a home.

By installing nesting aids, you provide wild bees with a suitable place to nest and hibernate.

3.

Don't use pesticides.

Don't treat your plants with environmentally harmful pesticides, as these are deadly to wild bees and other insects.

4.

Opt for organic quality.

Organic agriculture helps to preserve our diverse environment and protects not only our wild bees but also humans and nature.

Why wild bees are dear to YOGI TEA's hearts:

The little wild bees are essential to our ecosystem, as they act as pollinators and thereby preserve our nature in all her diversity. Protecting the bees' habitat and making it bee-friendly is therefore not just good for the bees themselves, but also benefits humans and nature. With our YOGI TEA Bee Happy, we want to help these endangered creatures in a variety of ways.

The ways in which YOGI TEA Bee Happy helps wild bees:

- This floral tea blend combines ingredients that these little bees are particularly fond of as a food source when in flower, and which are harvested only once they have stopped flowering.
- By providing nesting aids to selected growers, we create a bee-friendly environment in the places these delicious ingredients are grown.
- And, of course, all the ingredients are 100% organic – we thereby protect the wild bees and other insects from harmful pesticides.
- We support the Deutsche Wildtier Stiftung (German Wildlife Foundation), which works to make Germany's major cities more bee-friendly.

Find out more at yogitea.com